

>> ABOUT THE AUTHORS

■ AB CURRIE

Ab Currie, Ph.D. (Sociology, University of Toronto), is currently a Senior Research Fellow at the Canadian Forum on Civil Justice, where he is mainly involved in research on various topics related to the everyday legal problems experienced by the public. He is also presently conducting research with a number of community legal clinics in Ontario on innovations in service delivery based on outreach, on building community capacity to be partners with legal aid in providing access to justice services and on holistic and integrated service. Prior to joining the Canadian Forum Ab was Principal Researcher at the Department of Justice Canada where he conducted research in legal aid and other areas of access to justice for more than three decades. He has conducted extensive research in criminal and civil legal aid, including unmet need for criminal legal aid and four national legal needs studies in Canada.

■ ADRIANE DA SILVEIRA SEIXAS

Adriane de Silveira Seixas holds a Bachelor degree in Law from the Milton Campos Law School. She was a master's student in law at the Positivo University from 2019 to 2021. She pursued graduate studies in Civil Procedural Law from the Catholic Pontifical University of Minas Gerais. She is now a public defender in the State of Minas Gerais.

■ ANA SILVIA EVANGELISTA FERREIRA

Ana Silvia Evangelista Ferreira has a Bachelor degree in Law from the State University of Ponta Grossa (UEPG) and a master's degree in law from the Positivo University from 2019 to 2021. She pursued postgraduate studies in Tax Law and Tax Procedure from the Positivo University. She is now a lawyer with the legal clinic of the Positivo University.

>> ABOUT THE AUTHORS

■ ÂNGELO MAGALHÃES SILVA

Ângelo Magalhães Silva is a professor with the Professional Master's Degree Program in Public Administration (PROFIAP) at the Federal Rural University of the Semiarid Region (UFERSA). She is also a professor with the Academic Master's Program in Planning and Territorial Dynamics in the Semiarid Region (PLANDITES) at the State University of Rio Grande do Norte (UERN). She holds a Bachelor's, Master's, and Ph.D. in Social Sciences, with a specialization in Politics, Development and Society from the Federal University of Rio Grande do Norte (UFRN). She is acting as coordinator of the Study Group in Development (GEDEN) of the Federal Rural University of the Semiarid Region (UFERSA).

■ ABRAHAM BLANCO

Abraham Blanco is a lawyer and professor in International Human Rights Law, International Criminal Law, Family Law, Philosophy, Constitutional Procedural Law, and Venezuelan Sign Language. He is pursuing his Ph.D. in Management of Intellectual Creation at the National Experimental University Simón Rodríguez (UNESR). He is a distinguished public defender, assisting in the protection of children and youth, with the Public Defender's Office of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela. He is an undergraduate and postgraduate professor in Child and Adolescent Law, International Human Rights Law, International Humanitarian Law, and International Criminal Law at the National Experimental University of the Armed Forces (UNEFA) and the Latin American and Caribbean University (ULAC). He is the founding professor of the National School of the Public Defender's Office. He is also a permanent collaborator in the itinerant diploma courses of the Ombudsman's Office of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela, the National School of Human Rights, and the Juan Vives Suriá Foundation of the Ombudsman's Office.

■ ALÉXIA KILARIS SOUZA

Aléxia Kilaris Souza is a lawyer who graduated in law from the Federal University of the State of Rio de Janeiro (UNIRIO). She has been a member of Amarildo de Souza People's Legal Assistance Center (NAJUP/UNIRIO) and the Center for Studies and Research on Social Struggles (NELUTAS) since 2015.

>> ABOUT THE AUTHORS

■ ANA MARÍA BLANCO

Ana María Blanco is a graduate student of Criminal Law and Criminal Sciences from the National University of Cuyo (UNCUYO). She is a co-defender with the First Criminal Defense Office and a former Criminal Co-Judge at the Juvenile Court. She was a guest contributor at the Inter-American Court of Human Rights (IACHR). She is a full professor of Human Rights and Guarantees with the University of Congress (U.C.), where she also teaches General Principles of Law. She is also an associate professor of Special Criminal Law and Criminal Procedural Law at U.C. She is Speaker and Secretary-Reporter of the Juvenile Criminal Law Commission in various international congresses of the Latin American Association of Judges and Professionals in Child and Adolescent Rights (ALAMFPYONAF). She was the representative of the Association of Public Defenders of the Argentine Republic (ADePRA) at the meeting of the Block of Official Public Defenders of Mercosur (BLODEPM) in Santiago, Chile. She is a member of the Association of Magistrates of Mendoza. She is the author of several papers on criminal law and juvenile criminal law at many national and international conferences.

■ BERNARD DOS REIS ALÔ

Bernard dos Reis Alô holds a Master of Legal and Social Sciences and a Bachelor of Law from the Fluminense Federal University (U.F.F.) He is a federal public defender with the 1st Civil and Social Security Office of the Federal Public Defender's Office in Niterói, Rio de Janeiro State. He is the author of the book The Role of the Public Defender's Office in the De-judicialization of Health. His focus is on themes related to access to justice and legal demands against the Public Administration, with an emphasis on de-judicialization and alternative methods of conflict resolution.

■ BRANDON D. STEWART

Brandon D. Stewart is a part-time law professor at the University of Ottawa and a J.S.D. candidate at Yale Law School, where he is the recipient of a McMillan International Dissertation Research Fellowship and a Joseph-Armand Bombardier Canada Graduate Scholarship. He previously earned an LL.M. from Yale Law School as a Fulbright Fellow in 2018. Prior to joining Yale, Brandon worked as a research fellow for a community legal clinic in Ontario, Canada. He has assisted with the evaluation of various access to justice initiatives and conducted an Indigenous homelessness legal needs assessment.

>> ABOUT THE AUTHORS

■ CAMILO ZUFELATO

Camilo Zufelato graduated with a Bachelor's degree in Law from the São Paulo State University (UNESP) in 2002, a Second Level Specializing Master's degree from the Sapienza Università di Roma in 2006, and a doctorate in Procedural Law from Largo de São Francisco Law School at the University of Sao Paulo in 2008. He is currently a professor of Civil Procedure Law at the University of Sao Paulo's Law School in Ribeirão Preto.

■ CLAUDIA JAIMES

Claudia Jaimes is a teacher and interpreter of Venezuelan Sign Language. She has a diploma in the Sathya Sai Program of Human Values from the International Sathya Sai Institute and a diploma in Venezuelan Sign Language from the National School of Human Rights of the Juan Vives Suriá Foundation. She has a Master's degree in Linguistics from the Pedagogy Institute of Caracas at the Libertador Experimental Pedagogical University (UPEL), where she now teaches. She is a doctoral candidate in the Area of Management for Intellectual Creation at the National Experimental University Simón Rodríguez. She is a National Tutor of the Venezuelan Sign Language Interpreting Learning Communities (UNSER). She is President and Co-Founder of the Venezuelan Sign Language Interpreters and Guide Interpreters for the Deafblind Association (ASOIVE). She is also a teacher at both the National School of the Magistracy and the National School of Human Rights of the Juan Vives Suriá Foundation in association with the Ombudsman's Office.

■ CLEBER FRANCISCO ALVES

Cleber Francisco Alves is a professor at the Fluminense Federal University, where he teaches Procedural Law and Topics on Access to Justice. He received his Ph.D. in Law in 2005 from the Catholic Pontifical University of Rio de Janeiro. His doctoral thesis is a comparative study titled "Legal Aid in the United States, in France and in Brazil." He was a visiting fellow at the University of Baltimore, U.S.A. in 2003, at the Université de Montpellier, France in 2004, and at the Institute of Advanced Legal Studies of the University of London, U.K. in 2015. He is also a public defender in the

>> ABOUT THE AUTHORS

State of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. He has been Dean of the Faculty of Law at the Catholic Pontifical University of Petrópolis from 1999 to 2002, where he was also coordinator of the Master of Science program in Human Rights, Law Procedures, and Access to Justice. Currently, he is a researcher in the Graduate Program in Sociology and Law at the Fluminense Federal University (PPGSD-UFF).

■ DANIEL HENRIQUE DA MOTA FERREIRA

Daniel Henrique da Mota Ferreira holds a Bachelor's degree in Social Sciences from the Catholic Pontifical University of Rio de Janeiro (PUC-Rio) and a Bachelor's degree in Law at the Federal University of the State of Rio de Janeiro (UNIRIO). He is a Master's student in Sociology at the Institute of Social and Political Studies at the Rio de Janeiro State University (IESP-UERJ). He is also a member of the Center for Social Theory and Latin American Studies (NETSAL/IESP-UERJ) and the Center for Studies and Research on Social Struggles (NELUTAS-UNIRIO).

■ GENEVIÈVE AUDET

Geneviève Audet is a professor in the Department of Specialized Education and Training at the Faculty of Educational Sciences at Quebec University in Montreal. Audet is Chairholder of the Research Chair on Diversity Issues in Education and Training and is a regular researcher at the SHERPA University Institute. She is interested in intercultural education, school-immigrant family-community relations and school staff professional development in this context.

■ GLORIA SONG

Gloria Song is a Ph.D. candidate in law, studying access to justice for domestic violence issues under Dr. Angela Cameron and Dr. Jackie Dawson as a member of the Change and Economic Development in Arctic Canada research team at the University of Ottawa. She leads international engagement at Polar Knowledge Canada (formerly the Canadian Polar Commission), working in research policy, as well as serving as a project coordinator for the Law Society of Nunavut. Gloria clerked at the Federal Court for the Honourable Mr. Justice Leonard Mandamin, and then practiced as a poverty lawyer for the Legal Services Board of Nunavut while based in Cambridge Bay, Nunavut. She has worked on access to justice issues centered around domestic violence at the Legal Assistance Centre's Gender Research and Advocacy Project in Windhoek, Namibia as part of the Canadian Bar Association's Young Lawyers International Program. She continued researching these themes in Georgetown, Guyana as the 2016 Governance and Justice Research Award recipient through the International Development Research Centre. Gloria was the recipient of the Shirley Greenberg Scholarship in feminist law in 2018 and was awarded the Joseph-Armand Bombardier Canada Graduate Scholarships at the doctoral level in 2019.

>> ABOUT THE AUTHORS

■ FEDORA MATHIEU

Fedora Mathieu is a Haitian Canadian immigration and refugee lawyer in Canada. She has been a member of the Bar of Québec since 2012 and of the Law Society of Ontario since 2017. A graduate from the University of Montréal, she has articulated at the Human Rights Tribunal of Quebec. She received a Master's degree in Law from the University of Ottawa in 2014. Her thesis focused on the accountability of humanitarian non-state actors in post-catastrophic settings. She has completed field work in Haiti post-earthquake and examined the implementation of housing rights during this time in a case study. Her thesis was awarded the René-Lupien Prize which is awarded annually for the best master's thesis on a subject of special interest to the Canadian francophone community. From 2013 to 2018, Ms. Mathieu has worked as a private practitioner in Montreal and Toronto, focusing on vulnerable communities. She has assisted numerous refugee claimants through their immigration procedures, particularly with their refugee claims before the Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada. Since February 2019, she works in Ottawa as a staff lawyer with Legal Aid Ontario.

■ INARA FLORA CIPRIANO FIRMINO

Inara Flora Cipriano Firmino holds a Master's degree from the Law School of Ribeirão Preto at the University of São Paulo, under the supervision of Associate Professor Fabiana Cristina Severi and co-supervision of Professor Dra. Thula Rafaela de Oliveira Pires. She has a Law degree from the same Law School (2016). She is a member of the Research Group on Human Rights, Democracy, and Inequalities.

>> ABOUT THE AUTHORS

■ JANESON VIDAL DE OLIVEIRA

Janeson Vidal de Oliveira is currently operating as an attorney. He has a Master's degree in Planning and Territorial Dynamics of the Semiarid Region and a Bachelor's degree in Law from the State University of Rio Grande do Norte (UERN).

■ JÉRÉMY BOULANGER-BONNELLY

Jérémy Boulanger-Bonnely is an SJD Candidate at the University of Toronto Faculty of Law. He is a Pierre Elliott Trudeau Foundation Scholar and a Vanier Canada Graduate Scholar.

■ JESÚS E SANABRIA-MOYANO

Jesús E Sanabria-Moyano is a professor at the Nueva Granada Military University's Law School. He is a researcher with the "Public Law" group and with "the International law, Human Rights, and International Humanitarian Law" group of the Center for Legal, Political and Social Research of the Bogotá School of Law of the Nueva Granada Military University. A lawyer from the Nueva Granada Military University, Colombia. He is a specialist in Human Rights and International Humanitarian Law, focusing on armed conflicts, at the School of Human Rights and International Humanitarian Law of the National Army, Colombia. He holds a Master's degree in military public Law from Nueva Granada Military University, Colombia.

■ LUCAS FRANÇA TAVARES MOURA

Lucas França Tavares Moura is a Law student at the Federal University of the State of Rio de Janeiro (UNIRIO). He holds a Scientific Initiation Scholarship from UNIRIO. He is a member of the Amarildo de Souza People's Legal Assistance Center (NAJUP/UNIRIO) and the Center for Studies and Research on Social Struggles (NELUTAS).

■ LUISA FERNANDA GARCÍA LOZANO

Luisa Fernanda García Lozano is a professor at the Nueva Granada Military University's School of Law. She is a researcher with the "Public Law" group and the "Constitution, Public Law, and State" research stream. She is a Ph.D. candidate in law at the National University of Colombia. She has a Master's degree in the Sociology of Law from Oñati International Institute for the

>> ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Sociology of Law. She is now working as a lawyer with the Universidad Santo Tomás, Colombia.

■ MARINA CORRÊA DE ALMEIDA

Marina Corrêa de Almeida is enrolled in the Postdoctoral Fellowship Program of the National Autonomous University of Mexico (UNAM) in their Human Rights program. She is acting as advisor to Dr. Luis de la Barreda Solórzano. She holds a Ph.D. in Latin America Studies from UNAM. She has her Master's degree and Law degree from the Federal University of Santa Catarina, Brazil. She is a founding member of the Asociación Nuestramericana de Estudios Interdisciplinarios en Crítica Jurídica.

■ MAURÍCIO BUOSI LEMES

Maurício Buosi Lemes holds a Bachelor's degree in Social Sciences from Law School of Ribeirão Preto at the University of Sao Paulo (FDRP/USP) and a Master of Science, with a focus on Development in the Democratic State of Law, from the Graduate Program in Law at FDRP/USP. Currently, he is a Ph.D. student in the Law and Development graduate program at the Sao Paulo School of Law of the Getúlio Vargas Foundation (F.G.V. Direito SP), developing research on public policies for access to justice and institutional capacities of the Specialized Centers of the Public Defender's Office of the State of São Paulo.

■ MELINA GIRARDI FACHIN

Melina Girardi Fachin was a postdoctoral visiting fellow at the Human Rights Center of the University of Coimbra, Portugal. She has a Ph.D. in Constitutional Law from the Catholic Pontifical University of São Paulo (PUC/SP). She is an adjunct professor in undergraduate and graduate courses at the Faculty of Law at the Federal University of Paraná (UFPR). She is also the coordinator of the Center for Human Rights Systems Research (NESIDH) and the Center for Constitutional Studies (CCONS), both within the Federal University of Paraná (UFPR).

■ MELISA HANDL

Melisa Handl is an Argentinian lawyer and Ph.D. student in the Faculty of Law at the University of Ottawa, Canada. Her research interests include gender, development, qualitative research, and international human rights. She has also completed a Master's degree in International Affairs at the Norman Paterson School of International Affairs, Canada. Melisa is currently investigating whether conditional cash transfers are contributing to greater gender equality in Argentina, and she intends to connect a top-down approach to international human rights with the experiences of actual beneficiary women on the ground.

>> ABOUT THE AUTHORS

■ PATRICIA CARLOS MAGNO

Patrícia Carlos Magno has been a Public Defender with the State of Rio de Janeiro since 2001. Currently, she is a member of the Prison System research group. She is a researcher with the Federal University of Rio de Janeiro (UFRJ) and the Critical Theory of Human Rights Research Group. She is a founding member of the Justice Forum Project and the Coletiva Mulheres Defensoras Públicas. She has her Master of Law from the Rio de Janeiro State University (UERJ) and a doctoral degree in Human Rights at the Federal University of Rio de Janeiro (UFRJ). She completed a doctoral internship at the Center for Social Studies at the University of Coimbra, Portugal. She was awarded an Honorable Mention in the XIV National Congress of Public Defenders (CONADEP) thesis contest in 2019 for her thesis "In search of the emancipatory institutional potential of the public defender: reflections and propositions on the challenge of building institutional markers for increasing the three-dimensionality of access to justice." Her thesis has been adapted to an article for this collective work.

■ RODOLFO LIBERATO DE NORONHA

Rodolfo Liberato de Noronha is a professor at the Federal University of the State of Rio de Janeiro. He has a Master's degree and a Ph.D. in Sociology and Law from the Fluminense Federal University (U.F.F.). He is the coordinator of the Amarildo de Souza People's Legal Assistance Center (NAJUP/UNIRIO) and the Center for Studies and Research in Social Struggles (NELUTAS).

■ ROLA KOUBEISSY

Rola Koubeissy is a postdoctoral fellow and instructor in the Department of Specialized Education and Training at the Faculty of Educational Sciences at the University of Québec in Montréal. She holds a Ph.D. in Educational Psychology from the University of Montréal. She is interested in teachers' professional development on issues related to diversity and social justice, particularly in the areas of education, intercultural pedagogy, critical pedagogy, and socio-academic integration of immigrant students in a multi-ethnic context.

>> ABOUT THE AUTHORS

■ SANDRA LIA LEDA BAZZO BARWINSKI

Sandra Lia Leda Bazzo Barwinski has a Master's degree in Law from the International University Center UNINTER. She graduated from the Catholic Pontifical University of Paraná (PUC-PR). She is co-coordinator of the Latin American Committee for the Defense of Women's Rights (CLADEM) in Brazil. She is now a lawyer and Vice-President of Brazil's Bar Association – Paraná Section's (OAB/PR) Commission on Studies on Gender Violence.

■ SIMONE ALVAREZ LIMA

Simone Alvarez Lima has a PH.D. degree and a Master's degree in Law from Estácio de Sá University, Rio de Janeiro, where she researched Fundamental Rights and New Rights. She is a specialist in Civil Law and Civil Procedure and in International Law from Estácio de Sá University. Professor of Law and Graduate Studies in Sociology at Estácio de Sá University. Leader of the Emancipating Minorities Research Group. She is a member of the International Law Commission of the Brazilian Bar Association (OAB-RJ).